FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

John Hannah Receives Certification

Decatur, Alabama (December 30, 2008) – John Hannah & Associates, LLC, a leading business and personal coach and trainer that specializes in the areas of leadership/management, team building, motivation and sales, today announced that John Hannah has been designated an Inscape Certified Everything DiSC[®] Trainer. This designation not only demonstrates his in-depth understanding of DiSC but also his commitment to excellence and innovation. The designation was presented to John Hannah by Inscape Publishing at their training session, held in Minneapolis, MN on December 10, 2008.

John Hannah & Associates, LLC has continually demarked itself by the quality of its training. First established for over thirty years, the DiSC Profile System has significantly contributed to improving the way clients do business and has increased the productivity of those trained in its application. "Having realized the impact this training has had on my life, I am very pleased that I have received this designation and look forward to sharing it with others," said John Hannah.

Working primarily in the Boston area, John has returned to Alabama and John Hannah & Associates, LLC now plans to expand its market reach into the southeast.

"Success You Can Believe In"

The DiSC[®] Profile System has served an important role in human resource development for over thirty years. During that time, companies, trained in recognizing and adapting to differing behavioral temperaments, have shown significant improvements in productivity and profitability. Although others models are used, DiSC has two key advantages. Having undergone continual testing, the DiSC[®] Profile System's validity and reliability scores have been shown to exhibit the highest scores in the industry and, unlike other training models that explain you to yourself, we teach our clients to identify other temperaments and then to adapt so they can more effectively communicate, motivate and lead others.
